

EBHR

Submission Review Form

Title of the submission:

Date sent:

Recommendation:

- Accept submission (minor revisions)
- Accept with major revisions
- Resubmit for review
- Decline submission

*Regarding Resubmission for Review: As the author is encouraged to submit a new version to the journal, it will then go through the refereeing process again. In case you recommend a resubmission we would return the revised article to you in due course.

Comments:

Please provide comments on the aspects of the submission listed below. (An articulate review expounding on the reasons for your recommendation is expected. All constructive comments and suggestions will be most beneficial to the author.)

1. The nature and value of the project as a whole. What does the article contribute to the field of Himalayan studies and its specific disciplinary sub-field? What is its relevance to current debates and does it engage the relevant literature?
2. The presentation and structure of the article. Is the article well organized and does it succeed in making a clear point? Does the author present his/her methodology and main argument in a convincing way? How does the article succeed in its use of data to advance its conclusions? Please comment freely on aspects of structure and demonstration.
3. Specific suggestions for revision. Please elaborate your criticisms of and recommendations for improvement of the article. What are the strengths and weaknesses of the article? Which parts of the text does the author need to rewrite?